Ann Elizabeth Hann
Ann Elizabeth Hann, the wife of Philip Hann, died at her home on the Ryan farm, near Kilcoing's on last Saturday morning, at 3 o'clock. She was buried at Clearville on Monday morning, Rev. J. Albert Eyer of Bedford officiating at the funeral services, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Frownfelter of Clearville. She was born near Clearville, September 24, 1856, and was aged therefore 60 years, and 13 days. She is survived by her husband, Philip Hann, and three sons: George, Nelson and Leslie, and one daughter, Mrs. James Rose, of Claysburg and by a brother, Mr. John Connor of Bedford and a sister, Mrs. John Smith, of Everett.

David Fluke
Mr. David Fluke, a veteran of the Civil War and a highly esteemed citizen of Six Mile Run, died at his home there on Tuesday, October 3rd, aged 71 years, 7 months and 1 day.

David Fluke was a son of the late Henry and Elizabeth Fluke and was born in Morrison Cove, December 2, 1844. He was educated in the schools of Woodbury and on May 4, 1864, he enlisted in Company C. 13th Maryland Volunteer Infantry. He was honorably discharged from service in the Union Army May 29, 1865.

On January 2, 1866, he was united in marriage with Harriet J. Eichelberger, at Eichelbergertown, by Rev. A. R. Cramer, of the Reformed church. He is survived by his wife and three children, namely: Mrs. Nora Reese and Mrs. Helen Cutshall, of Six Mile Run, and Edward J. Fluke, of Altoona, Pa. He is also survived by 12 grandchildren and 2 great grandchildren.

Deceased moved to Six Mile Run in 1875, where he engaged in the mercantile business and as a coal operator until several years ago, when he retired from the activities of business life. He served as a justice of the peace, as councilman and as school director of Coaldale borough for a number of years. He was always honest and honorable in all dealings with his fellowmen, was a faithful husband and a loving father. His death is mourned by a host of friends. Funeral services were held last Friday at 10 a. m., at the Reformed church cemetery at Yellow Creek.

John M. Conner
John M. Conner was born April 8, 1864, in Fulton County and died September 11, 1916. He lived in Scotland for a period of 35 years, where he was employed by the U. S. Steel Corporation and was a faithful employee of that concern for a number of years. Only a few months before his death, did he leave their employ and that on account of failing health. He was twice married and is survived by his second wife, who was Miss Anna Mary Zeller, and five children: Charles, John, Mary, Agnes and James, also by one brother, Wm. Conner of Monroe, Mich., and one sister, Mrs. Bertha Brown of Mt. Pleasant, Pa. Remains were laid to rest in the cemetery at New Baltimore, Friday, September 15.

Elmer Smith
Elmer Smith died at his home in Rainsburg, on Sunday, October 1, at 10 o'clock. Deceased had been ill for over a year suffering from tuberculosis. He was a son of E. H. and Belle (Casteel) Smith and was born at Rainsburg about 28 years ago. He is survived by his parents and one brother and sister, Charles Smith and Mrs. Blanche Miller, all of Rainsburg. Funeral services were held October 4th, at 2 o'clock p. m., in the Methodist Protestant church at Rainsburg, the Rev. Hibish, of Wolfburg officiating. Interment was made in the cemetery at the church.

That California Progressive who after witnessing the Taft-Roosevelt love feast in New York, walked over to the Democratic National Committee and gave it a check for $250 doubtless represents a not uncommon frame of mind. He saw immense wealth lined up with the Old Guard in an effort to wrest control of the Government from those who represent the people, and the sight revolted him. So it does hundreds of thousands of other persons. Nobody will deny that the Wilson Administration has made mistakes, but the great fact remains that it and the present Congress have been absolutely free from that domination by moneyed interests that marks Republican control. The whole aim of the President has been to enact legislation in the interest of the American people as a whole rather than of the rich and leisured class. By this purpose they should be judged.

"GOLDEN SPECIAL" FLAGGED IN CHICAGO BY WILSON WOMEN

Hughes Campaigners Confronted at Station With Banners Reading: "Go Back to Wall Street; We Want Wilson."

ARE HACKLED AT MEETINGS; FEW CHEERS FOR THE G. O. P.

"You Are Ignorant," Mrs. O'Shaughnessy Shouts at Audience That Cries Her Down.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Women vote in Chicago and no Suffrage ghosts haunted the Hughes "golden special" today. Instead the railroad station was invaded by women under the direction of Mrs. George Bass's department at Democratic headquarters. They silently held before the visitors banners which said: "Go back to Wall Street."

We want Wilson and the eight hour day.

How about the Danbury Hatters?

The working women are with Wilson. Wilson voted for Suffrage; Hughes did not.

After the train party had filed through a silent crowd to the fifty decorated automobiles which waited outside, the Wilson women fell in and paraded behind. Hardly a cheer for Hughes came from the noon hour crowds along the sidewalks, but the sixty marchers behind who chanted "We walk" got round after round from streets and shop and factory windows.

Among the Democratic marchers were Mrs. Catharine Vaughn McCulloch, Democratic Presidential Elector; Miss Margaret Haley, Chicago Teachers' Federation; Miss Anna Fitzgerald, President National Women's Label League; Miss Elizabeth Maloney, Vice President International Hotel Restaurant Employees' Union.

"We're waiting to see your working women," Miss Maloney called out to Mrs. Raymond Robins, who reproached Miss Maloney for being on the wrong side.

Jew Workers There

Nearly 700 women attended the luncheon at the La Salle Hotel and several hundreds more crowded into the reception afterwards, but street meetings designed to catch the working women's votes were not so successful.

Miss Mary Antin was to speak in Yiddish before the employees of a large clothing factory, but only a few would stay to listen to a Hughes orator so she quit.

"You are all ignorant!" shouted Mrs. Nelson O'Shaughnessy, leaning to the seat of the automobile and waving a flag as the audience at another street meeting continued to heckle her on the Mexican situation. "She was not allowed to go on with the speech and the automobile drew away in the midst of loud cries for Wilson."

Hungry! Help!

The following is taken from the report of the "American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief."—"A Massacre, the most dreadful of modern times. Pillage and deportation on a scale probably never before attempted. At least a million Armenian survivors destitute. In Syria, Persia, and Palestine, widespread hunger, disease and death. One cablegram announced that the refugees were eating grass. A later message reports that the grass is dried up and that the emaciated victims are eating carrion, the street dogs, and even human flesh. Another winter is approaching, and homeless, penniless multitudes have no shelter, clothing or food. The cry for rescue comes to us. Can we dare we, withhold the help we can give?"

Have you Helped? If not, send in your contribution AT ONCE to Prof. J. Anson Wright.

Rally Day

Next Sunday, October 15th, will be Rally Day at St. John's Reformed church. Great preparations are being made for the program, which will be carried out at the Sunday School service beginning at 9.45. At this service the main address will be delivered by Prof. Garner of the High School. Special effort is being made to provide seats for all who may attend this service though remembering last year this may be hard to do. The offering on Rally Day will be devoted to the support of the one hundred and twenty or more aged ministers and their widows who are no longer able to care for themselves. This worthy cause will doubtless bring out even a larger offering than the record one of last year. At 11 a. m., the pastor, Rev. J. Albert Eyer, will preach on the subject: "Rally for What?"

At 3.30 p. m., there will be rendered a Rally Day service prepared by Dr. J. Rufus Miller of Philadelphia. We invite all of our friends to share with us the blessedness of this day.

Miss Pearl Rue

Miss Pearl Rue, aged 19 years, daughter of Joseph and Annie Rue formerly of Napier Township, died of cancer, October 2, at Olin, Iowa.

ALL REPUBLICANS ON 8-HOUR BOARD NAMED BY WILSON

Goethals, Rublee and Clark to Investigate the Operation of Adamson Bill Among Railroad Employees.

PRESIDENT'S SELECTIONS PLEASING TO OFFICIALS

OMAHA, Neb., Oct. 5.—President Wilson made formal announcement here to-night of his appointments to the Commission to investigate the operation of the Adamson Bill, providing an eight-hour day for railroad employees. His appointees are:

George W. Goethals, Major General U. S. A., Governor of the Panama Canal Zone and builder of the Panama Canal, Chairman, Republican

Edgar E. Clark, Interstate Commerce Commissioner, member of the Commission which settled the anthracite coal strike and six times President of the Order of Railway Conductors, Republican

George Rublee, Acting Federal Trade Commissioner, Progressive Republican

The President gave detailed consideration to the selection of the men for this commission, and Administration officials believe he has collected a board which will conduct the investigation with absolute fairness to the public, the employees and the railways. The commission is considered non-partisan and the President's selections could almost be said to be without personal politics.

Tried to Block Rublee Appointment
The President appointed Mr. Rublee to the Federal Trade Commission as a Progressive. The appointment was a recess appointment and failed of confirmation in the Senate because Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire objected on the ground that Mr. Rublee was "personally obnoxious" to him, having opposed him politically.

Major Gen. Goethals is a Republican nominally. He is a close friend of Col. Roosevelt and was suggested last summer as a compromise candidate for the Republican nomination who would prove satisfactory to the former President.

Clark Opposed to Strikes
Interstate Commerce Commissioner Clark, the third member, was vaguely reported a score of years or more ago as being a "Republican." Since then he has been regarded as a representative of labor rather than a member of any of the political parties. He is well known for his opposition to strikes, his belief in arbitration for the settlement of difficulties between capital and labor, and his opposition to compulsory arbitration. Mr. Roosevelt appointed him an Interstate Commerce Commissioner in 1906. He was reappointed by Taft and later by President Wilson.

GIVES RESIDENCE FOR HOSPITAL
I have been authorized to announce that the "William Harley Home," 339 South Richard Street has been donated for a hospital, to the people of Bedford County.

The owner has seen the necessity for an institution of this character in Bedford, and desiring to extend this great assistance to the people has voluntarily offered to turn over her home for this charitable purpose. I know the people of this community will appreciate the great kindness and liberality of the donor, which has been shown in the gift of this much needed institution and will contribute liberally to its support, and assist in maintaining it by every means within their power.

A transfer of the property will soon be made to the persons chosen to take charge of it. The trustees will be called together at once to work out the details. Later a public meeting will be held to which all citizens will be invited to unite in carrying forward to completion the plans for opening the hospital.

I am convinced from the inquiries I have had, especially from women, that many will come forward to aid in establishing and equipping completely the building which the founder has given for the relief of the sick. This can be done soon in order to be prepared for the work that is sure to come.

The hospital will be the health center of the community, with its library, X-ray apparatus, Electric Appliances, Baths, Treatment Rooms and Diet Kitchen, which tend to prevent illness.

In this manner it become an educational institution for the medical profession and the people also. In connection with the operating room, every general hospital should equip a special room for dental work. We expect to associate Dental surgeons with us, from the very start.

Doctors should get together and forget trivial things in a desire to benefit the communities which they serve. If we lead the way to better things, the public will respond.

Dr. Walter F. Enfield.

THE BIG BEDFORD FAIR

Everything conspired to make the Bedford Fair this year the most successful ever held. The weather was ideal from start to finish and the attendance total exceeded that of any previous year. The exhibits in every line were up to the usual standard seen here. Although not in number, excelled in quality. The exhibition building showed the skill and industry of the ladies in making useful and artistic things of the home. Even tho this is not accounted the most favorable season for fruit growers, the display of apples, peaches, pears, grapes and other fruits were seldom surpassed and showed what knowledge and its application will do in overcoming the difficulties of the fruit growers. The State had in this building a representative showing, the different pests, which destroys our fruit trees and the fruit; while the live stock end of the fair was not large, owing to the farmers being too busy to bring their stock, some specimens of the best strains of the County were found here.

One noticeable feature of this and other fairs is that the exhibits of automobiles and farm machinery and equipment increase with the years. Even electric lighting plants and tractors were on exhibition. The racing drew large crowds and was for blood. The vaudeville acts, sandwiched between races, were very good. The "Midway" was of the usual kind, but in spite of this it seemed to furnish attraction and entertainment to the multitude without respect to age, sex or profession.

A great deal has been said and written about the character of entertainment at fairs but little has been accomplished in the way of "betterment", nor is it likely to be much changed so long as humanity is built as it is and since the usual kind of entertainment contributes to its desire so successfully. The State Police were on hand and everything went off quietly. The fair managers are to be congratulated on breaking all records in attendance.

WHOM I WILL FOLLOW IF ELECTED TO THE LEGISLATURE

There is no more vital question in my estimation, before the people of Bedford County, or the State of Pennsylvania than the liquor question. The traffic has done more to degrade the morals of our people than any other economic enterprise instituted under this government. It makes business incompetent, irresponsible and indifferent. It breaks down the health of every man, woman and child who uses it and destroys the moral rectitude of all young people and is largely responsible for prostitutes and houses of ill-fame. It is greatly the cause of our pauper class and the chief force in developing the street and store loafer and beggar and the common tramp. Its use has the effect of transforming peaceful communities into those of terror and distress, reducing families of mothers and children to want for food and clothing. Its victims, though good citizens when sober, become nuisances when under its influence and many times wind up in acts of a criminal nature appalling not only to the people not concerned but to the users themselves, when sobriety over-takes them again. Our courts are full of cases in nearly all of which plea is advanced on the ground of the criminal being under the influence of liquor.

I stand for the correction of all these evils and therefore, am sternly opposed to the liquor traffic and in this stand I wish to supplement the statement by declaring that, if elected to the legislature, I will stand by Governor Brumbaugh in his recommendations on the liquor question and all other remedial and constructive legislation which he may propose. I cannot declare against liquor and support Prohibition. Prohibition means greed, graft and intemperance and to support it would be most inconsistent with my conscience and declarations.

Yours truly,
VICTOR E. P. BARKMAN

MANY ITEMS OF INTEREST

Gleaned From Various Sources—Little Points Picked Up By Vigilant Reporters.

Miss Mary Bittinger will entertain the embroidery club this evening.

John Clark and family have moved into their new home on Bedford St. Don't miss the concert to be held in Assembly Hall, October 18, at 8.10 p. m.

Tickets will be on sale at Dull's Drug store for the concert Wednesday night, Price 25c.

New Buick cars were delivered last Saturday to John A. Finnegan of Queen and Dr. J. H. Coles of Hopewell.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Suffrage Party will be held in the L. T. L. room, Brode building, next Tuesday evening, October 17, at 8.30 o'clock.

The Chatham Concert Co., will give an entertainment in Assembly Hall, October 18, at eight-forty p. m., for the benefit of the Presbyterian church.

The chairman of the Suffrage Fair committee wishes to express her gratitude to those who contributed candy for sale at the fair. The proceeds go to help defray State campaign expenses after local expenses have been paid. Isabel White, Secretary.

Harold Smith, while playing ball at the Fair, Friday afternoon was thrown down by one of the members of the visiting team and very badly hurt. He was taken to Cumberland, where an x-ray photo showed that his arm was out of place and the ligaments of his arm torn. The injuries have been very painful and will confine Mr. Smith to the house for some time.

J. Cloyd Doty, son of Mrs. Ellen Doty of 131 East Penn St., who is a sophomore in the Oberlin Conservatory of Music, played last Wednesday evening at the second students' recital of the Conservatory. His number was Kitournelle by Chaminade and was splendidly given. Mr. Doty's work in both the College and the Conservatory is of the very highest order.

On next Sunday, October 15th, an election for pastor will be held in all of the congregations of the Schellsburg Reformed Church. Rev. David Dittmar will have charge of the service at New Buena Vista in the morning and at New Paris at 2.30 p. m.

Rev. J. Albert Eyer will have charge of the service in the Reformed Church at Schellsburg at 2.30 in the afternoon.

G. Nevin Dively a member of the class of '17 at Millersville State Normal school and a star-half back on the Normal school football team was elected captain of the team for the present season. Mr. Dively after three years of experience is very capable of the position and a successful season is predicted by the manager.

Mr. Dively is a son of B. F. Dively, Sup. of Highway of Bedford County.

Representative Warren Worth Bailey has on hand a number of year books of the department of agriculture and copies of "Diseases of Cattle" for free distribution. He also has for distribution a limited number of the following farmers' bulletins, recently issued by the department of agriculture, which are of special interest to dairymen: No. 743, "The Feeding of Dairy Cows"; No. 748, "A Simple Steam Sterilizer for Farm Dairy Utensils." Mr. Bailey will be glad to send copies of the publication referred to above to any one in Blair, Bedford or Cambria County as long as the supply lasts. He may be addressed at Johnstown, Pa.

Gillespie-O'Neill

Miss Margaret Gillespie, daughter of John B. Gillespie of this place was united in marriage at the Catholic Church, Tuesday morning, at ten o'clock to R. N. O'Neill of Akron, Ohio, the ceremony being performed by the pastor of the church, Rev. Father Downes. The church was beautifully decorated with autumn leaves and yellow chrysanthemums.

The couple was attended by Miss Ella Smith as bridesmaid, who wore a beautiful Copenhagen blueorgette crepe dress and by Dr. U. B. Reidt of Jeanette as best man. The wedding march was played by Miss Cora McGirr organist of the church. The bride wore a purple broad cloth suit and carried pink roses. The bride is one of Bedford's popular young ladies. Mr. O'Neill is employed in the Goodrich Rubber Factory at Akron, Ohio. Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the Fort Bedford Inn, where covers were laid for twenty. The tables were beautifully decorated with yellow chrysanthemums and pink roses. Following a wedding trip the young couple will be at home to their friends after November 1, at Akron, Ohio.

Shooting Accident

Mr. Sam Layton was accidentally shot at Handley, W. Va., one night last week. Mr. Layton is assistant superintendent of the Y. M. C. A. at Handley. Mr. Layton and another young man were in a room together, and a revolver which the young man had was in some way discharged, the shot entering Mr. Layton's hip. He was taken to the hospital and is doing as well as could be expected. Mr. Layton is a son of Mr. Wm. Layton, of Monroe township.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building-tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.

NEW YORK WILSON PARTY LEADERS PREVIEW

Peopled by the Democratic Party in Every Election District Up-State

PLANNED FOR GREAT DRIVE AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT

National and State Managers Working to Elect Wilson—Chairman Harris Tells of Plans

That Wilson is the only man who will carry New York is the opinion of every Democratic leader in the Empire State.

The closest co-operation exists between the Democratic National Committee, the State and New York City Democratic leaders and the representatives of the large body of independent voters who will vote for Wilson.

Plans for a state-wide campaign of unprejudiced activity in the interest of the Democratic national and state tickets was recently perfected at conferences between Chairman Vance C. McCormick of the Democratic National Committee and Chairman Edwin S. Harris of the Democratic State Committee and other New York City leaders.

Democratic state and local leaders at the conferences that embraced the co-operation existed in the election precinct in the state. Some of the prominent lines of sentiment to President Wilson have been among the farmers and industrial workers in the interior of the state was brought from all the up-state leaders.

Chairman Harris was particularly enthusiastic in his assurances to Chairman McCormick that New York State was certain to be found in the Wilson column.

"We have planned to organize along a money line," said Chairman Harris. "Vote is outside the Democratic party as everyone knows have declared for President Wilson in every election district of the state. There is not a single election district which does not have a number of Republicans who are going to vote for President Wilson. We are going to help them get others. So far as the Democratic vote is concerned, it is a 100 to 1 proposition that Wilson, Seabury and McCormick will get 99 per cent. of the 700,000 Democrats of all kinds who vote in the state."

"In the Republican primaries over 100,000 votes were cast for Bacon. That represents the number of Republican voters who would not have renominated Whitman if they had their own way."

"Now, on the Wilson proposition there are three factors at work. Take the situation for instance in the General Electric Company's plant in Schenectady, where 25,000 persons are employed. Wilson will get 4,000 to 5,000 votes there that normally have not belonged to the Democratic party at all. My reports show that this situation is being repeated all over the state."

"A recent poll in Erie County (Buffalo) shows a shift of 20,000 votes from Hughes to Wilson, while in the agricultural district, the Republican strongholds, we find any number of farmers who are going to vote for Wilson."

LAURENCE CHASE WILSON
Leader of the Wilson Campaign in the Empire State

"We have with regret but without surprise the existence of an organized effort to discredit the administration of President Wilson," says John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America, in a formal statement.

"The attitude of the President toward the many grave questions affecting the men of labor during the past four years has been such as to warrant a word of appreciation at our hands at this time."

"His efforts in keeping our country at peace commended him most favorably to the toiling masses and to the labor movement in particular. He has given his personal assistance in support of humane labor legislation and has championed the cause of the child slaves of industry and we feel that we are but discharging our just obligation to President Wilson in commending him for the things accomplished in the interest of humanity; and we believe that the many outstanding achievements of his administration in the interest of progress and human betterment will find favorable consideration among the great masses of the people throughout our country."

URGED TO GIVE MORE FOR PEOPLE'S CAUSE

Public the Only Contributors to Wilson Campaign, Leaders Point Out

REPUBLICAN SLUSH FUND OUTDOES EVEN HANNA'S DAY

Large Sums Needed for Legitimate Offset to Flood Wall Street Money—What Chairman McCormick Says

Results of the "people's campaign" to re-elect President Wilson have demonstrated the widespread patriotic enthusiasm behind the President's candidacy. To date, more than 500 newspapers and nearly 10,000 groups of progressive citizens in some 10,000 towns and cities of the country have become active partners in the movement to finance the fight for Wilson by popular subscription.

As it has become apparent, however, that organized wealth is financing the Hughes candidacy on a scale beyond the high records for expenditures made in Mark Hanna's day, the managers of the Democratic campaign now urge still greater efforts by the millions of Americans who believe in government free of financial obligation to any individuals or interests.

"A 'people's campaign,'" said Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, "means a campaign conducted with clean money, the giving of which comes from the heart and for no purpose other than to advance the public interest. This preliminary and all-essential restriction was laid upon his campaign managers in 1912 by the then Governor Wilson—that no obligation be assumed, financial or otherwise, which might be construed as limiting his absolute freedom to act for the whole people in the Presidency. That same all-essential restriction rests upon his campaign managers to-day—and is being rigidly observed."

Wilson a Free President

"The people believe and know that President Wilson has been a free President, the first in many years. That they also believe and know that this is the character of his candidacy today is shown by the responses to the solicitations for popular subscriptions by Mr. Henry Morganthau, chairman of the Finance Committee, and Mr. Wilbur W. Marsh, Treasurer of the National Committee.

"But every ounce of energy that every progressive citizen can devote and every dollar that each can reasonably spare is needed to insure the success of the President's good cause."

Under Treasurer Marsh, local finance committees have been appointed and are at work for Wilson in about 10,000 communities now. Results are shown in the fact that contributions are coming in amounts averaging less than $5 for each single contribution. That means more than 400 contributors for each $20,000.

"I wish I might visit you face to face and impress you with the tremendous importance of this work," Treasurer Marsh writes to the individual members of these local finance committees. "To my mind it is far-reaching. We are absolutely dependent upon it for the money to carry on the campaign. It is imperative because by having the citizen who loves his country finance the campaign we are keeping the government absolutely uninfluenced by persons who have ulterior motives. This is a campaign for the people, and it must be paid for by the people."

A Sacrifice Worth While

"Every patriotic and loyal person ought to give to the point where it really means something of a sacrifice to him. To one this might mean a thousand dollars or more; to another it might mean five hundred dollars, or fifty dollars, or a dollar."

The work of getting independent and Democratic newspapers to open their columns to subscriptions has just begun. Yet as stated, more than 500 papers have shown approval by enlisting their energies and publicity facilities in the movement. The Columbia, S. C., "State" has sent in $4,191.25; the Omaha "World-Herald," $3,236; the Portland, Ore., "Journal," $2,083; the Charlotte, N. C., "Observer," over $1,000; the "Times-Dispatch," Richmond, $921; and the Duluth, Minn., "Herald" $436.

Piedmonts pay no duty

—no ocean freight

—no marine insurance

All the value of Piedmonts is in the cigarette itself—where it should be.

The reason is that Piedmonts, being made of Virginia tobacco, pay no duty. They're ALL Virginia tobacco—mild, and mellowed by Virginia's golden sunshine.

If you ask a tobacco expert, he will tell you that Virginia is the best cigarette tobacco on earth.

"A package of Piedmonts, please."

The Cigarette of Quality

NOTE:—It is impossible to sell a package of 10 cigarettes of all Turkish tobacco for 5c. Not that this Turkish tobacco costs more than Virginia, but because duty, ocean freight, marine insurance, and expensive handling charges must be added to the cost of all Turkish tobaccos. But Piedmonts, made of highest-grade Virginia tobacco, have none of these valueless expenses. All their value is in each cigarette.

REPUBLICAN SENATORS RIDDLE HUGHES ISSUES

LaFollette and Cummins Help Show Hollowness of G. O. P. Charges

WISCONSIN STATESMAN DEFENDS 8-HOUR ACT

Denies It Was a "Force Bill"—Cummins Explodes Willcox's Discovery of a Joker in Child Labor Law

United States Senators Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin, and Albert B. Cummins of Iowa, both Republicans, have furnished the sensation of the campaign by joining in the general bombardment of Candidate Hughes. In no uncertain terms, Senator LaFollette denounces the Hughes charge that the Eight-hour Law for railway trainmen was a "force bill." In a signed statement Senator Cummins has exposed the utter falseness and partisan unfairness of the recent Republican attacks upon the Child Labor Law.

Thus two more issues which Candidate Hughes has attempted to raise are riddled, and from within his own political camp.

In "LaFollette's Magazine" for October, the Wisconsin Senator charges that millions of dollars were expended by the railroads, during the pendency of their negotiations with the trainmen, in an effort to influence public sentiment against the demands of their trainmen for an eight-hour day.

Not a "Force Bill"

"These millions did not come from the profits of the railroad managers or the railroad owners," says Senator LaFollette. "They came from the funds of the treasuries of the railroads. This campaign was conducted with money that really belonged to the people."

"This eight-hour law has been called a 'force bill,' enacted under the demands of organized railroad trainmen," continues Senator LaFollette. "This is not true. Congress, disinterested, under law bound, to consider only the public good, was forced to act in the public's interest. It was not forced to act because of any demands upon Congress by the workmen or by the railroads, but because the public interest demanded immediate action."

Congress acted. It passed what is known as the Eight-hour Law for men in the employment of railroads in interstate commerce, engaged in moving trains. Every Wisconsin Representative present voted for the bill, which became a law and averted the strike. I believe they did right. I believe in the eight-hour day.

"It is claimed that Congress acted without due consideration. Did it? The question of the eight-hour day for skilled employees was not new. Every Congressman alive to the issues of the day must have been fairly familiar with the arguments pro and con on the subject of the eight-hour day."

Willcox's Joker a Myth

Characterizing the alleged discovery by Chairman Willcox of the Republican National Committee of a "joker" in the Child Labor Law as "without any foundation whatsoever" and stigmatizing the persons who have been giving them publicity as "either insincere or incompetent," Senator Cummins riddles the preposterous claims of both Mr. Hughes and his campaign managers and declares the Child Labor Law as enacted by Congress and signed by President Wilson is certain to "effectuate the humane purposes toward which the friends of child labor legislation have for a long time been striving."

Senator Cummins's statement is not only a complete answer to these Republican attacks, but is a timely and stern rebuke to those responsible for giving them publicity. His views are set forth in a letter to Owen R. Lovejoy, General Secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, written Sept. 23.

"If the Republicans are making any such charges against the law in order to discredit the administration," Senator Cummins says, "the effort is disreputable and must react upon those who are foolish enough to give currency to the charge."

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of Sunday School Course, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1916, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 15

APPEAL TO CAESAR.

LESSON TEXT.—Acts 25 (vv. 1-12).
GOLDEN TEXT.—It is enough for the disciple that he be as his teacher, and the servant as his Lord.—Math. 10:23.

Teachers ought to urge their scholars to read Chapters 24, 25 and 26 thoroughly, and with the use of a map locate the places mentioned. The date of this lesson is A. D. 59, and it occurred at the crisis of the events which determined the way Paul should go to Rome, Nero being the emperor at that time.

I. Paul in the Prison at Caesarea (vv. 1-6). Paul was worn out, badly in need of rest, and is given during this imprisonment much freedom. He was accompanied by Luke, his physician, and probably some of his other friends. For almost 20 years Paul had been living a strenuous life, crowded full of labors that would have crushed an ordinary man. Now for some considerable time he had time to thoroughly master and assimilate the truth which he had been preaching, the results of which have come down to us in the form of letters, seven of which at least were written during and after the events of this lesson. His imprisonment also gave many of his friends opportunity to secure his counsel and guidance. The vindictiveness and hatred of the Jews is evident by this new plot whereby they sought the help of Festus against Paul. The corrupt Felix had been succeeded by a more upright man, Festus. The scheme of these enemies of Paul and of Jesus had already resulted in giving Paul an opportunity to preach Jesus as the Christ and the judge of men to persons who otherwise would not have been within the scope of his influence. Through his persecution he had reached leading officials and educated men of the Romans and of the Jews. Bunyan, in Bedford jail, and Luther in Wittenberg Castle, are illustrations of the principle that, "difficulties are the stones out of which all God's houses are built."

Felix, on giving up his office to his successor, left Paul bound (Ch. 24:27) though he knew he ought to be released, but by this vile, iniquitous act, he gave Paul another one of his desired opportunities to witness for Christ in high places. The shrewdness of Festus saved Paul from falling into the trap of the Jews, for God was guiding Festus, and at the same time guarding Paul.

II. Paul's Appeal to Caesar (vv. 7-12). The Jews made many and grievous complaints, but without bringing a single witness to prove their assertions. Doubtless these were the same old charges that had been brought before Felix through Tertullus two years before, and which now, as then, could not be proved. Paul was permitted to answer for himself, and he declared that he had broken neither the Jewish nor the Roman law. Most of the enemies of Christianity and of the Bible "lay many and grievous charges against it which they cannot prove." In all ages the enemies of God and his word mistake strong and confident charges and vilifications as proofs. Paul's life was absolutely clean, and he could say, "I have not sinned at all" (v. 8 R. V.) in any of the directions in which he was charged. Festus, as the newly appointed governor, desired to do the Jews a favor; literally, desired to gain their favor. Therefore he said to Paul, "Wilt thou go up to Jerusalem, and there be judged of these things before me?" This amounted to an acquittal of Paul on the charges that would come under the Roman law.

There remained only such charges as would naturally come before the Sanhedrin, and the question was whether Paul would accept an informal acquittal from the Roman court on condition that he submit to a trial before his own people on the other count. Festus wished to throw upon Paul the responsibility of refusing to go to Jerusalem, and to avoid displeasing the Jews.

Festus got a courteous but a stinging and well deserved rebuke from his prisoner. Paul was perfectly willing to take any punishment he deserved, even unto death, but, having a clear conscience, he had no fear of Festus or any man. His appeal to Caesar was most unexpected. It confused Festus and baffled the Jews. The Lord's own words on his midnight visit to Paul in prison are here suggested (23:11).

Festus could make but one decision, "Unto Caesar thou shalt go." Paul's sincere and open character was the means of his safety and power.

III. Paul and Agrippa (vv. 13-22). Agrippa was the king of the northern part of Palestine, a Jew and trained in religious ceremonies, but one who never mixed politics with religion, wearing his Judaism as a garment.

His father, Agrippa I, slew James the elder, the apostle.

The great-grandfather, "The Great," caused the massacre of the infant innocents (Math. 2).

He married his own sister, Bernice, who came with him on this visit to Festus.

Festus declared Paul's cause unto the king.

HOW RESERVE SYSTEM HELPS

Provides Money to Move Cotton Crop at Six Per Cent.

In a dispatch to the New York "World" from Dallas, Tex., Sept. 23, practical illustration of how the Federal Reserve System has become of vast practical utility is given. It is stated that the total yield of cotton in Texas will be about 4,000,000 bales, which will net about $400,000,000 to the farmers.

"The Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas is putting out money for handling the Texas crop at the rate of approximately $500,000 per day," says the dispatch. "In view of the fact that comparatively little cotton is being held, the large demand for funds with which to move the crop is somewhat surprising. The significant thing about the matter, however, is that instead of paying 8 to 10 per cent. for the money, the farmers and cotton buyers are now able to obtain it for 6 per cent. It was expected that in event of low or unsatisfactory prices there would be a large amount of money advanced as loans through the Federal Reserve Bank on warehouse receipts, but up to this time requests for loans of this character have been very few."

A Rest Is Good for Pastures Too

It works well to divide pastures and turn the herd in on alternate days, or other periods, giving the grass a fresh start. This system can also be made to furnish more variety to the herd. Pastures should not be allowed to become stale or unproductive, but should be broken up and reseeded as often as necessary. Rotation applies to pasturage as well as to other crops.

Pastures will stand fertilizing and permanent pastures, especially, require regular top-dressing, and liming if the soil becomes acid. Brush weeds and stones occupy space which more profitably could produce grass. Briars and thistles are especially objectionable since they interfere with the use of grass which surrounds them.—Black & White Record.

Dental Preparedness

What is the most important attribute of a soldier?

Good Eyesight?

No.

Good Brains?

No.

What then?

Good Teeth?

A soldier may have good feet, good eyesight, and good brains but if he has bad teeth, he can't eat. If he can't eat, he can't march near enough to the enemy to see him and use his brains to fight him.

How does a soldier get good teeth? By having good teeth in childhood.

How do children keep good teeth?

Through being taught by their mother how to keep their teeth clean and having their teeth looked after while they are growing. This makes good teeth for future soldiers.

It would seem then as though the first patriotic duty of a mother was to keep her children's teeth in good condition.

Dewey Hanes Again Champion

The Champion Grain Grower of Ohio is again in line for the State Championship with his 1916 acre of corn. While he may not beat his last year's record of 153 bushels of corn from one acre as he had hoped to do, present indications are that his yield will be very close to his former record.

Last year Dewey also raised an average of over 55 bushels of wheat per acre. This year, on his corn crop he is cutting down expenses of production in order to secure greater net profits per bushel, but is again depending upon a heavy application of fertilizer to give his crop a good start and carry it along to maturity.

STEADFAST CONFIDENCE

The Following Statement Should Form Conclusive Proof of Merit to Every Bedford Reader.

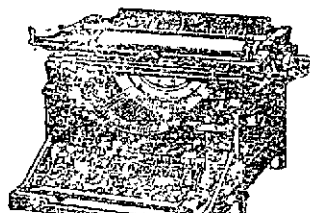

Could stronger proof of the merit of any remedy be desired than the statements of grateful endorers who say their confidence has been undiminished by lapse of time? These are the kind of statements that are appearing constantly in your local papers for Doan's Kidney Pills. They are twice told and confirmed, with new enthusiasm. Can any reader doubt the following? It's from a Bedford resident.

W. H. Weyant, grocer, 213 West Pitt St., Bedford, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are not a new medicine to me. I have used them off and on for a number of years and wouldn't be without them. I have to be on my feet a great deal and also do heavy lifting and at times, this brings on backache and other kidney ailments. A few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills always drive the attacks away." (Statement given October 10, 1907.) MORE THAN SIX YEARS LATER, Mr. Weyant said: "I still have a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills. I use them occasionally, when I feel in need of a kidney medicine and they soon make me well."

The above statement must carry conviction to the mind of every reader. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills, the same that Mr. Weyant has twice publicly recommended. The remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. BOASTFUL IGNORANCE

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D., LL. D., Commissioner of Health.

The boastfulness of ignorance is ordinarily not worthy of comment but when it jeopardizes the health of other people it is perhaps worth while to take up the cudgels.

There is a class of individuals who pooh hoo all warnings regarding matters of hygiene and usually end their assertions by informing you that their grandfathers never paid any attention to "such nonsense and what's more they never have and here they are alive and well to show for it. Statistics however, show that these people who violate the laws of Nature often meet an untimely death. Unfortunately, some give an ear to such foolish boasting and run headlong into danger.

The transmission of disease by germs is most frequently attacked by the ignorant. Those people who accept without comment the statement that the world revolves upon its axis as a part of the solar system, and thousands of other things which they are incompetent to work out for them selves, will bluster about the absurdity of germs causing disease. That typhoid fever, diphtheria, yellow fever, tuberculosis, anthrax, malaria, and pneumonia are caused by germs has been proven just as definitely as the fact that the world is round.

Fortunately exposure to disease, even of a communicable type does not always mean that the individual so exposed, will contract it. This is the reason that the boaster. May boast and stay And live to boast another day.

The new Tariff law which has stood the test of foreign war will truly stand the test of foreign peace.

Why shouldn't Perkins and Penrose shake hands? Who has done more to rebuild the Penrose machine in Pennsylvania than Perkins?

Gifford Pinchot's declaration for Hughes didn't create the slightest stampede. His big brother is for Wilson and anyway Gifford's proper place is "back to the tall timbers."

Iron and steel orders are now being placed for 1918 delivery; the 1917 mill capacity being well exhausted. Exit, Mr. Temporary Prosperity.

President Mary E. Woolley of Mount Holyoke College has come out for Wilson. In a feminist era it is as logical for the college President in politics to be a woman President as a man President.

Having vetoed the two-cent fare and opposed the income tax as Governor, it is quite logical that Hughes, as a 100-Per Cent Candidate for President, should attack an eight-hour law for railway trainmen.

Notwithstanding the report that money is still plenty at Republican headquarters, the probability is that several years will elapse before another millionaire Women's Campaign Train will be sent out from New York in the interest of a Wall Street candidate.

When Secretary Daniels issued his order against the use of intoxicating liquors on the government's battle-ships, he did what every railroad, every factory, every bank and practically every business concern in the country had already done—demanded sobriety among their employees.

The Republican party whose majority in Congress voted for the passage of the Eight-hour Law, might have former Speaker Cannon answer the criticism of the Presidential candidate of their action. He and sixty-nine other Republicans voted for the measure.

Wall Street stands ready to pay a big price or chance a big sum, to get control of the tremendous wealth that has come to this country during the past three years. They know that it will be safe to the people and safe from Wall Street if President Wilson is re-elected.

Having first expurgated and then canned their movies films, the Republican National Committee should now transmute or somehow inject into the speeches of its standard-bearer some sort of an intelligible constructive program that will appeal to a thinking and intelligent electorate.

There is one political subject which Mr. Hughes must admit requires no investigation—namely, the class of interests for which he stands. Messrs Penrose and Smoot are his models for statesmanship, Crane and Hitchcock are his political managers, and Taft and Estabrook are his campaign speaking companions.

"We are lost," declares a Wall Street worker for Hughes, in the columns of the "Wall Street Journal," if Republicans assume that Maine is a good barometer State and do not work "night and day for Hughes." The "we" used in this case refers to Hughes, Wall Street interests, and the Republican machine; and for once Wall Street prediction hits the truth.

The New York Central, with its 68 per cent. increase of net earnings for 1916, is not helping out its political attorney, Candidate Hughes with his "temporary" prosperity argument, when it places its order for 250 locomotives for delivery in the fourth quarter of 1917. That is one year too far ahead to save Hughes and his argument.

Having attacked Senator La Follette's seaman act, Candidate Hughes feels that he has evened things with the Wisconsin Senator for supporting the Administration eight-hour law and Underwood tariff and for attacking the Hughes platform and Old Guard control. It is evident that Hughes has kissed good-by both the labor vote of the country and the electoral ballot of formerly Republican Wisconsin.

STALE ISSUES

From the Chicago Tribune (Rep.) Possibly Mr. Hughes' realization of his failure as a pure critic led him to dabble on such stale issues as the tariff, civil service, national budget, etc., etc. But a fervid advocacy of that Republican panacea, a high tariff, exalted periods on the beauties of a pure civil service, and devotion to national economy are not sufficient to arouse more than a pale acquiescence in the breasts of partisans.

$50,000 FOR A NOMINATION

Mr. Herrick Ambassador to France under President Taft, who secured the republican primary nomination for United States Senator in Ohio, filed his statement with the Secretary of State at Columbus, showing that he had personally spent $22,175 in the primary. The Herrick Voters' League in their statement admitted to having spent $29,000, or a total of $51,175. This is just $6,175 more than the senatorial salary for the full term of six years, should Mr. Herrick be elected.

If one Republican senatorial candidate is willing to spend such a sum in the primaries, how much will the whole Republican Party spend in the election?

It is the same Old Guard trying to get back again. Wall Street and the millionaires.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. We have been having some very hot weather for this time of the year.

Mr. and Mrs. William Hinson and grandson, Irvin Hinson visited Geo. Hinson's family on last Sunday.

Rev. Kimmel preached last Saturday evening.

Mrs. Joseph Kinzey is on the sick list at this writing.

A. E. Kinzey expects to begin work on the Old Shot Factory soon.

SHAKE BILL!

If, in 1912 Taft and Roosevelt told the truth about each other, this is the exhibition that was staged by the Old Guard recently:

Taft shook hands with a "demagogue," a "neurotic," a "flatterer," a "honeyfugler," a "friend of the Steel Trust and the Harvester Trust," and a politician who had "received campaign aid" from Standard Oil, Penrose, Cannon, Quay, Platt and Foraker.

Roosevelt, on his own statement, shook hands with the "upholder and beneficiary of crooked privileges," the associate of "Guggenheim, Aldrich, Penrose, Gallinger, Lorimer, Cannon and McKinley," the man "responsible for the alliance between crooked politics and crooked business," a "friend of the bosses," a President "guilty of the most scandalous abuse of the patronage," a tariff-maker representative of "special privilege and special interest," likewise with the former head of "a government administered by Messrs. Lorimer, Guggenheim, Barnes, Gallinger and their like in defiance of the will of the people," and, finally with the chief executive of "a government under which the people defrauded of their rights."

Thus, in one handshake, was effected a reunion of all the elements and interests of the Grand Old Republican party. Let all true progressives take note of this amazing development.

Sensational Event!

An Emergency Proposition!

Cannot Be Avoided!

Sacrifice Must Be Made!

Will You Benefit by It?

Our Loss Is Your Gain!

Follow the Crowd Today!

Great Crowds are taking advantage of this great Removal Sale. An appreciative throng, eager to grasp an opportunity, has been on hand and many fine instruments were snapped up. The crowds realized, in an instant, the enormous saving, and were quick to seize a Real Bargain. We are simply up against the real thing! Contractors are anxious to commence tearing down this building, and it's simply imperative that we dispose of every single instrument at once, regardless of cost. We need your co-operation—you need the instruments which we are sacrificing. We must look to the intelligent public to help us rid this store, and do it quick. A great many of the Bargains filled a long felt want in many a home in Cumberland and vicinity these last few days; many others will go in the remaining days.

If you follow the crowds to the Great Cumberland Piano Store—Bring $5.00, Bring 10.00, Bring $50.00. You will find right here just what you have been waiting for. Whether it be a Piano or Player Piano, you will be satisfied, we assure you.

We are compelled to make the sacrifice and we are going to do it quick. Make us an offer—Say what you will give—name your Price—name your Terms, if they are in reason and consistent with good business principles, you get the Piano or Player, whichever you select. We are not going to be arbitrary—we want you satisfied! but they must get out of our way.

What's to hinder you making an offer?

Can you pay $1.00 a week?
Can you pay $1.50 a week?
Can you pay $2.00 or $2.50 per week?

You never thought of this, did you? Well! Come in any day and if you ever intended to purchase a Piano or Player Piano you will be the possessor of a fine Piano before the day is over.

The good people of this vicinity also realize that at the Great Frederick store only can be found such Leaders of the World in Pianos and Players as Knabe, Hardman, Estey, Foster, Francis Bacon, and Price & Teeple—both Pianos and Players.

Did you ever hear of obtaining a beautiful Mahogany Case Piano for as little as $128, on terms of $1.00 per week?

How about a Nice Used Piano—$53 is the price? think of it! another used one—$73.

Player Pianos, also, as low as $195.

Name your terms on these—if we can handle the proposition you get the Bargain.

If you have a little spare cash—follow the crowds that visit this store and we know you will get the most wonderful surprise of your whole existence. If you are unable to come yourself, write us. Show this to your neighbors—they may want a Bargain.

No instrument will be set aside for later delivery—they must go now.

Talking about the political situation Mr. Edison says:

Give the people the facts, and it will be a Wilson landslide. No President ever faced such problems, no President ever made such a record of achievements. It is not alone that Woodrow Wilson has statesmanship; he has leadership, too. I have always been a Republican, but I put my country above party. In a world crisis, with the fate of America in the balance, I would take shame to myself if I did not put myself behind a man who has given us peace with honor, prosperity with justice and preparedness without militarism.

Mr. Ford is no less emphatic. He says:

Like Mr. Edison, I am a Republican. But I cannot stay with a party that puts office-seeking first and America last. President Wilson has saved the United States from the horrors and desolation of international war. He has saved us from industrial war. His domestic policies have given new strength to legitimate enterprise, protected the worker emancipated the children and destroyed evils that were sapping the courage of America.

The Sunday School holds its service at 10 a. m., the Men's Bible Class holding its meeting in the auditorium of the church. All men not religiously engaged otherwise, are fraternally invited to meet with us. The pastor of the church will preach at the services of divine worship, that begins at 11 a. m., and again at the evening service, commencing at 7.30 o'clock, which is preceded by the Christian Endeavor service at 6.45 p. m. The devotional service of the week is held regularly on Wednesday evening, at 7.30 o'clock. There is always something unusual about the practical message given at this service. All are welcome.

MEETING OF CIVIC CLUB

At the meeting of the Civic Club held Monday evening in the Trust Building over forty members were present. Reports of the various committees, covering the business transacted since the organization of the Club in the spring, were heard. All were most favorable and the Club is to be congratulated upon the excellent work done during this short period.

Miss Barclay reported the work on the square fronting the Post Office as progressing slowly, owing to the difficulty in securing labor, but under the able direction of Mr. Allaman will be done thoroughly. The ground was plowed, then harrowed, and allowed to remain in that condition for a week, when it was graded, the dead roots and stumps being removed. The path thru the centre will be ready for the concrete during the coming week. Mr. Allaman will superintend the planting of the trees and shrubbery purchased by the Club at the proper time.

The report of the Treasurer, Mrs. L. D. Blackwelder, was as follows:

An election of officers was held, the present incumbents being unanimously re-elected, as follows: President, Mrs. J. J. Powell; Vice Presidents, Mrs. Wm. Brice, Jr., Miss Nancy Schell, and Miss J. C. Tate; Secretary, Miss Cora McGirr; and Treasurer, Mrs. L. D. Blackwelder. Chairman of Committees were named: Art, Miss Jessie B. Barclay; Government, Mrs. S. H. Sell; Social Service, Miss Helen Barnett; Educational, Mrs. George Points.

Plans for raising money for further improvements were discussed and the Club decided to hold a Halloween Market on Saturday, October 28.

The bird-identification and bird-house contests will close the latter part of October. Those who are prepared for the Committee to visit their bird houses will kindly give their names to Miss Statler at an early date. In the identification contest, all children who entered are requested to have their lists prepared ed and in the hands of Miss Statler not later than October 21. These lists must contain the name, a short description of the bird and the date seen. The prizes will be awarded at an early date.

The Club is anxious to have a larger membership as well as larger attendance at the meetings. There is not a more beautiful town in the Keystone State than BEDFORD--let us all work together to add to its attractions.

Crop Rotation Pays

The value of crop rotation in maintaining soil fertility is shown by wheat yields at the Ohio Experiment Station at Wooster. Where unfertilized wheat has been grown continuously, year after year, it has yielded only 7 1/2 bushels per acre, as an average for 20 years. By growing the crop in a 5-year rotation of corn, oats, wheat, clover, and timothy, this yield has been increased 42 per cent. In a 3-year rotation of corn, wheat and clover, a gain of 50 per cent. in yield has been realized.

On manured land wheat in continuous culture has yielded less than 18 bushels per acre. In the 5-year rotation it has given 22 bushels per acre where manure has been applied to this crop, and in the 3-year rotation wheat following manured corn, the wheat itself receiving no manure, has averaged 20 bushels per acre.—Ohio Farmer.

NEW COAST TO COAST RECORD BY MOTOR CAR

Cross Country Run Made in 5 Days, 3 Hours and 31 Minutes

Detroit, Mich.—Transcontinental automobile records are being established in rapid succession these days, the latest being that of the Hudson

Super-Six, which made the long run from San Francisco to New York in 5 days, 3 hours and 31 minutes. It is significant to note that of the recent attempts of this kind, the route of the Lincoln Highway has been followed in its entirety or for the greater part of the distance. The builders of the Lincoln Highway, both the Lincoln Highway Association and the communities along the route, are not working for a great cross country speedway, but they are getting an improved road from one extreme of the country to the other, as the Hudson record attests.

Wonderful Insect World.

The insect world represents an unlimited field of life and activity. The number of insect species is greater by far than of the species of all other living creatures combined. Although more than 300,000 have been described, probably twice that number remain to be examined. Virtually all living animals, as well as most plants, supply food for these innumerable hordes.

The College Goes to the Farmer
In the old days of the agricultural college, the farm boy who entered upon his school duties found himself to a great extent outside the atmosphere of the farm and upon graduation something apart from his fellows. The broadening influence of his university education left him in some cases with small taste for what were then the narrow limits of farm work. In other words, the farmers' sons went to college and returned in many cases out of touch with the home and the home work which he had left behind.

This condition has been corrected and the order of things so reversed that it can truly be said that instead of the farmer going to college the college goes to the farmer. Extension work is the means which has brought about this truly happy condition, and while not entirely new, the rapidity of it is at least novel.—James Wilson in Agricultural Digest.

Weedy Meadows

Weedy meadows are common this year. The abundant rainfall last summer and this spring apparently provided ideal conditions for the germination of weed seeds. Cultivated crops are suffering where they have not been properly worked, but the hay crop appears to have suffered most. It is noticeable however, that the best meadows, having best growth and thick heavy stand, are nearly free from weeds. This suggests fertilization and care, as a means of weed eradication. The meadow grasses will crowd out the weeds if soil conditions are made right for their growth. Improvement in this way yields the two-fold gain of larger production and cleaner and more valuable hay.—Pennsylvania Farmer.

But One of Many Achievements of the Wilson Administration.

MONEY FOR CROP MOVING

Rural Credits, Federal Reserve Act, Good Roads, Grain Standards and Many Other Benefits.

By FRANK G. ODELL.

Editor of the Nebraska Farm Magazine

Do you know that your post office is now an employment bureau? That is one of the new things Uncle Sam has started during the present Administration. Secretary Wilson of the Department of Labor has tackled the task of bringing the jobless man and the manless job together, and now every post office is an agency of the United States employment service. The postmaster is equipped with blanks for listing applications for labor or for employment and is instructed to help get the worker and the job in contact.

While this might appear to be principally in the interest of the worker, it is really one of the numerous far-reaching things started for the benefit of the farmer by the Administration of President Wilson. The increasing scarcity of farm labor has become a problem to the farmer, especially in the wheat-growing and fruit-growing sections. This labor, which is of a seasonal character, necessarily must be performed largely by itinerant workers. Some agency which will meet this demand and relieve the laborer of the graft of employment agencies is necessary. Uncle Sam has started it.

A single illustration will show how the system works; in the Willamette Valley of Oregon thousands of temporary workers are needed in hop-picking time. On August 20 the Oregon Journal of Portland printed a news article about the new government employment agency, stating that six hundred families could obtain immediate employment in the hop yards by applying at the Portland division of the Federal employment service.

This is another item added to the mass of accumulating evidence which shows that the Wilson Administration has tried to give both labor and the farmer a square deal. For the first time in history, this Administration has placed the needs of rural districts squarely before Congress as of equal importance with the interests of financial centers.

And why not? Financial centers would not amount to much without the nine-billion-dollar crop of the American farmer. But the interests of the farmer have not always been so prominently and favorably considered by Congress as they have during the past three years. The record of Democratic claims for farmer support is a record of accomplishment. It reads like this in the passage of laws and administrative acts:

What Has Been Done for the Farmer.
CURRENCY REFORM: The Federal Reserve Act under which the farmer's paper is given special consideration, including permission to National Banks to loan on the security of farm lands.

RURAL CREDITS: An epoch-making legislative measure which will relieve the farmer of the incubus of the short-time loan at extortionate interest. This measure alone, when in full force, will save the farmers of the United States one hundred and fifty million dollars annually in interest charges.

GOOD ROADS: Seventy-five million dollars made available for the development of roads from the farm to the market, under conditions which will prevent wasteful use of the money.

AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION: The passage of the Smith-Lever Act brings to every American farm, through the joint co-operation of the Federal Government and the States, the help of these agencies in solving the business problems of the farmer.

COTTON FUTURES ACT: Deals a death blow to gambling in this great staple.

UNITED STATES WAREHOUSE ACT: Enables owners of stored products to obtain loans on warehouse receipts more nearly approximating the full value of the product.

GRAIN STANDARDS: A law enacted last August authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to establish official grain standards. This law is working. The farmer who has been robbed through juggled grain grades for years will appreciate its value.

CROP MOVING: The surplus funds of the Treasury Department have been placed directly in the hands of the South and West to aid in moving crops during the customary season of money shortage.

INTEREST ON GOVERNMENT DEPOSITS: Banks holding government deposits are now required to pay two per cent interest. This cuts off a big graft which formerly came from the free use of huge sums of the people's money. More than one million dollars revenue annually is now derived from this source alone.

IMPROVED MARKETING SYSTEM: The farmer has for years felt the power of the market combine, with its waste, inefficiency and dishonesty. The office of Markets and the Rural Organization Service, established in the Department of Agriculture during this Administration, are working on scientific lines to promote better marketing and co-operative business organization among farmers.

These beneficent measures, with many others, show why the farmer is pretty well satisfied with the Wilson Administration.

EIGHT-HOUR ACT
IGNORABLE, SAYS OLNEY

Hughes "Hada't the Nerve" to Demand Filibuster in the Senate Against the Law.

WILSON'S ACT COURAGEOUS

Member of Cleveland's Cabinet Praises President's Domestic Achievements and Policy of Averting War.

No American can speak with higher authority on the issues of this campaign than Richard Olney, who was President Cleveland's Attorney General during the railroad strike of 1894, and President Cleveland's Secretary of State when the Venezuelan message was sent to the British Government. He should know whether President Wilson's action in averting the railroad strike was a "surrender to force"; whether the Wilson foreign policy has been "timid and vacillating."

Mr. Olney seeks no political preferment; his interest is that of a retired statesman, of a wise, experienced, dispassionate patriot, who is concerned only with the welfare of his country.

Mr. Olney has written for the New York World a signed article in which he warns the American people against the danger sure to result from turning over their affairs to Mr. Hughes and the interests which would dictate his policies, foreign and domestic.

Where Was Hughes' Nerve?
Discussing the passage of the Adamson eight-hour law, Mr. Olney points out that the Republicans of the Senate, if they had really wished more time for consideration of the bill, could have obtained it by means of a filibuster, as a recognized Senatorial weapon, and adds:

"Why did not the Republican Senators resort to it and get all the time for deliberation they wanted? What was Candidate Hughes doing that he did not make the wires hot with messages to Washington—warning against the law the seventy-four Republican Representatives who voted for it and urging the twenty-eight Republican Senators to filibuster to the last ditch?"

"But neither he nor the Republican leaders generally had the nerve to face the situation. With ample means in their hands to prevent legislation until after its due consideration, they deliberately elected that it should appear to be enacted under coercion in order that, after the great national deliverance had been effected, they might object to the mode of its accomplishment."

"A pettier and more ignoble game of politics never was conceived. In comparison, and in view of the sudden and extraordinary exigency sprung upon the country, President Wilson's course was characterized by both courage and common sense."

Of Candidate Hughes' conduct in the campaign, Mr. Olney remarks:

"No sooner was the nomination assured than the robes and ermine of the Judge fell from the candidate as if by magic, and there appeared in their place the motley wear of the ordinary office seeker—a transformation as sudden as that made by the wand of Harlequin in the pantomime, and a transformation showing how thin is the judicial veneer, and forever discrediting the United States Supreme Court as a training camp for high political office."

Has Kept Rudder True

In its conduct of foreign relations the Wilson Administration, Mr. Olney says, "has kept its rudder true and has won and deserved the respect and gratitude of the country."

The principles and objects of the Wilson foreign policy as stated by Mr. Olney have been:

First—To keep the country out of the great European war.

Second—To insist upon the existence and vitality of international law as determining its own status as a neutral, and defining its rights and obligations as such.

Third—To deal with the Mexican situation in a spirit of perfect fairness and friendliness to the Mexican people, now suffering from civil dissensions and revolution to an extent which leaves a large part of the country in a state of anarchy.

Mr. Olney shows that all these objects have been attained through the wise, patient and courageous diplomacy of Woodrow Wilson; that the President has kept the country at peace without dishonor; that under his leadership "the United States has rendered an inestimable service to belligerents and neutrals and to all mankind" in "steadily bearing aloft the banner of international law as the standard under which all civilized peoples must eventually gather."

Mr. Olney finds particular cause to commend President Wilson's Mexican policy. He stands with the President in declaring that the Mexicans have the right to work out their own destiny even through revolution.

Closing by asking what is likely to happen if the "Presidential tiller passes into new hands," Mr. Olney says that Hughes' inducement to change the existing foreign policies of the country will be very great.

"The American people can hardly fail to realize the danger and to refuse to put at risk the continuance of a foreign policy which, as a whole, must have their hearty approval."

A FAT PAY ENVELOPE
From the Philadelphia North American (Supporting Mr. Hughes.)
Of the causes for the extraordinary apathy of the public toward the two presidential candidacies, the general prosperity appears as the most obvious. A pay envelope that is fat and regular unquestionably has a soporific effect. In former campaigns the full dinner pail—or the empty dinner pail, as the case might be—provided an issue with which one party or the other could arouse reverberating discussion. The argument which that utensil symbolizes was used in the past with deadly effect by the Republicans, but this time it returns to smite them, for good times are here, and it has been a cardinal doctrine of Republican evangelists that the party in power is responsible for the existence or the absence of prosperity.

THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY

WHY WILSON GROWS STRONGER

From the New York World
The Republican national campaign is based upon two theories. First, that the American people are fools; and second, that money can elect a President.

These are the guiding principles of the Republican managers. The business of exploiting the American people as fools has been intrusted to Mr. Hughes and the other Republican speakers. The business of electing a President with money is in the hands of the trusted lieutenants of the Old Guard.

Of Republican money the supply is inexhaustible. Every reactionary interest, every financial and corporate element that fattens off privilege and partnership with government, is pouring its contributions into the Republican campaign chest with a lavishness that would have won the envy of Mark Hanna. Whatever can be done with money in this campaign, the Hughes managers are in a position to do it.

In other respects the Republican campaign adheres rigidly to the doctrine that the American people are ignorant and uninformed, that they do no thinking for themselves and are sufficiently credulous to believe anything that a Republican orator tells them.

Mr. Hughes is the great apostle of this doctrine. All his campaign speeches draw their inspiration from the belief that if he attacks the President viciously and vindictively, it is not necessary that he should have issues or policies or a programme of his own. His notion is that the average American voter is too stupid to ask what would really happen if President Wilson were defeated and Mr. Hughes were elected. The thing to do, in Mr. Hughes's opinion, is to inflame popular passion and prejudice against the President without allowing the country to know what a Hughes Administration would do or what it would mean. To present a programme of government would enable the voters to make comparisons between the President's policies and achievements and Mr. Hughes's promises. Such a comparison must not be permitted, and so Mr. Hughes pussyfoots over a German-Wall Street trail toward the White House.

Republican confidence in the inherent stupidity of the American people attained its highest fulfillment in Elihu Root's speech in Carnegie Hall last night. Even Mr. Hughes has never reached such heights of contempt for American intelligence. Sneering at the claim that President Wilson has kept us out of war, Mr. Root said:

Never since Columbus sighted San Salvador has there been a time when it has been so easy for America to keep out of war by doing nothing as it has been during the great conflict now raging in the Old World.

Such a statement as that takes it for granted not merely that the American people are fools, but that they are not only ignorant, but that their brains are closed to all possible channels of information and knowledge. Mr. Root might as well have told them that there was no war in Europe, and that the reports of a war were the sensational inventions of a licentious press inspired by a ribald Government in Washington.

Yet this is the kind of campaign that the Republican candidates and speakers have conducted since the night that Mr. Hughes delivered his speech of acceptance. It has no parallel in American history. Never before was a Presidential candidacy presented to the country on so low and contemptible an intellectual plan.

Is it surprising that President Wilson is growing stronger every day and that Mr. Hughes is growing weaker? How could it be otherwise? The American people are not fools. The Presidency of the United States is not for sale. The millions that Wall Street is flushing into the Republican coffers cannot take the place of conscience, courage and conviction in a Presidential contest, and in conscience, courage and conviction the Hughes campaign is poorer than the poorest and most miserable of paupers.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

A SUPERFLUOUS CANDIDATE

Hughes So Characterized by a Pittsburgh Republican
That the Hughes candidacy is superfluous and that the former Supreme Court Justice has lowered his own standards by assailing President Wilson, are among the reasons given by William Albert Harbison, an attorney and Republican of Pittsburgh, Pa., for supporting the President for re-election.

In a letter to the Democratic National Committee publication of which is authorized by Mr. Harbison, he says:

"Though a Republican of the Progressive stamp and long an admirer of ex-President Roosevelt, I am strongly of the opinion that President Wilson has far surpassed him in practical idealism and has given to the world the greatest demonstration in its history that a Nation as well as an individual can be Christian in its ideals and relations towards others.

"While an admirer also of Honorable Charles E. Hughes as a man of high ideals, I believe he is a superfluity at the present moment and is distinctly lowering his own standards in the attempt to fight an administration such as we have had during the past four years.

"God grant success to your nominee is the wish of one Progressive Republican."

The Soil Fertility Fledge

To do my share toward maintaining and increasing the fertility of the soil and thereby assisting in carrying on and increasing the prosperity of the great basic industry of the world, I will endeavor at all times and in every practical way to conduct my business of farming so that my grain fields, my pastures, my orchard and my garden lands will increase in production and will be able to return to succeeding owners who practice similar methods as profitable or more profitable yields; I pledge my word and engage to perform, to the best of my ability and understanding. And in so doing, I will not be making a sacrifice, for I know that by keeping faith with future generations, I will be bringing about greater present production, increasing land values and more profitable returns per acre.

Vain Repinings.

"By right of conquest," he declared, the maid belonged to him; but as along life's path they fared—his eyesight growing dim, her temper waxed sharp and shrewd, her tongue became uproarious; and he wished, as his past he viewed, that he hadn't been victorious.

Daily Thought

Many of our cares are but a morbid way of looking at our privileges. We let our blessings get moldy and then call them "curses."—Beecher.

"I AM AN AMERICAN"

Son of Civil War Veteran, in Vivid Prose Poem, Summons all Who Love America to Vote for Wilson

(NOTE:—The Democratic National Committee is advised by the Democratic State Committee of Wisconsin, "We think the enclosed article ought to be printed in the National Bulletin." So does the National Committee. So does the Editor of The Bulletin. Indeed, this spontaneous phrasing of honest gratitude to Woodrow Wilson ought to be printed from end to end of this land—and read. It is the straight, plain truth fully expressed.)

I am an American. I hate war and I love peace and honor. My father fought in the Civil War for the cause he thought was right.

He died on the battlefield of Gettysburg.

He left a widow and five small children.

As a child at my mother's knee I have heard her, as the tears stole down her cheeks, describe the horrors and the miseries of the days of '61.

I have seen the wounds of war who call it War.

I have seen the death of those of those stirring men and women who have died for their country and state.

I hear the shrieks of mothers whose war's of sorrow and wives, whose endless Death made widows, the cries of children availing in vain the return of "Daddy."

I see a land once rich in grain become more devastated than if it were visited by the seven plagues of Egypt, a land once peaceful and prosperous, the most miserable country that the sun ever shone upon. I HAVE EVERY REASON TO HATE WAR.

My mind's eye sees the terrific struggle now being waged in Europe—For what, Who Can Answer?

I tremble—like all true Americans—at the thought of our land being engulfed in this maddening sea of slaughter.

I know our President has kept us out of this awful war and I lift my voice both day and night in grateful accents to Heaven for having raised up at this crucial period Woodrow Wilson who, like Washington and Lincoln, has been the saviour of America.

I know that Wilson has preserved the glory of Columbia—that he has maintained peace without sacrificing honor.

No stain of shame has ever yet besmirched the pages of our history, nor has our flag ever trailed behind the war chariot of kings or emperors; and I know that while Woodrow Wilson rules the country, this boast will proudly ring o'er hill and vale with no fear of a discordant echo.

I know that Wilson has endeavored in every honorable way to preserve neutrality with foreign powers and that his policies and actions have been criticised by men who, like Caesar, would sacrifice country for ambition.

I know that Christ himself was crucified by his own chosen people because he tried to save them.

I know that the great men of the world have died for the sake of their country and for the sake of the world.

I know that the great men of the world have died for the sake of their country and for the sake of the world.

I know that the great men of the world have died for the sake of their country and for the sake of the world.

I know that the great men of the world have died for the sake of their country and for the sake of the world.

I know that the great men of the world have died for the sake of their country and for the sake of the world.

I know that the great men of the world have died for the sake of their country and for the sake of the world.

I know that the great men of the world have died for the sake of their country and for the sake of the world.

I know that the great men of the world have died for the sake of their country and for the sake of the world.

I know that the great men of the world have died for the sake of their country and for the sake of the world.

I know that the great men of the world have died for the sake of their country and for the sake of the world.

time—who fought for Human Liberty are Greatest."

The man who has stood at the helm of state and has piloted us through the channel of danger out into the calm waters of peace, contentment and prosperity—THAT MAN I SHALL STAND BY.

That man is Woodrow Wilson. I shall vote for him because I AM AN AMERICAN.

Major William Watson Post G. A. R., held its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, last. After the usual business was disposed of the Comrades proceeded to do honor to the memory of their late Comrade, Hon. J. H. Longenecker. Dr. Americus Enfield eulogized the deceased and short addresses were delivered by Comrades P. B. Smith, Kipp, Robison Miller, Hissong, Diehl and Peck, after which the following action was taken. Memorial Resolutions by Major William Watson Post No. 332 G. A. R. of which Judge Longenecker was a Member

The Comrades of Post 332, G. A. R., of Bedford, Pa., having assembled together as a memorial committee to commemorate the life and deeds of a brave and faithful public servant, who for more than a half a century resided in our midst, represented in the Councils of State, thereby reflecting great credit upon himself and those whose interests he held in sacred trust, desiring to perpetuate our action do render this tribute to our departed Comrade.

tribute—Judge Longenecker was a man among men, great in intellect, great in heart and great in all things that make for better conditions in the world. A private soldier and officer, a lawyer, a lawmaker, a law judge with the pride of splendid manhood, he discharged all his duties with honor and genius. He was independent in thought and action. He was generous, with a love for order and harmony. Always serene, self poised in victory or defeat alike, with unflinching steps he moved steadily onward and upward in the service of his people. We who are here assembled knew him as Comrade, a neighbor, a citizen, a friend, so we think of him in loving remembrance, not as dead, but as living and breathing in the good works and shining example of patriotic courage which he has left us as a rich heritage for all the years to come.

Resolved:—That a copy of the above be sent to the family of our late Comrade.

PENNSYLVANIA DAY AT SHADOW LAWN

President Wilson Will Receive Pennsylvania Democracy, Saturday, October 14.

There will be a great demonstration at "Shadow Lawn," President Wilson's summer home, near Long Branch on the New Jersey Coast, on Saturday, October 14th, 1916, when several thousand Democrats and friends of the President from all parts of the Keystone State will journey there in special trains. The President will deliver a special address to the excursionists at 2:30 o'clock, in the afternoon, after which a reception will be held when all will be afforded an opportunity personally to meet and greet President Wilson.

At this writing there is assurance of one-day special trains being run from Mauch Chunk, Harrisburg and Philadelphia, while delegations from Pittsburgh, Wilkes-Barre, Scranton, Lancaster, York, Chester and other points in the State have secured reservations on these various trains. Marching clubs, accompanied by bands, are going from Easton, Allentown, Reading, Harrisburg, Philadelphia and other points. On the rear of all these trains one or more cars will be reserved for the ladies. The public is cordially invited to attend this reception by President Wilson at his famous "Summer White House."

Thus far the following one-day special trains have been engaged over the following railroads for the trip to Shadow Lawn: Leave Philadelphia on Penna. R. R. At least two trains will leave Philadelphia not later than 11 a. m., from Broad Street Station, stopping at West Philadelphia, North Philadelphia, Frankford and Bristol. Time for run to Shadow Lawn about 2 1/2 hours. Leave Shadow Lawn at 5 p. m. Delegations from Pittsburgh, Lancaster, Chester, York, etc., will have reservations on these trains. Uniform fare $2.50 for round trip.

Leave Mauch Chunk on Central R. R. of N. J.

A special train will leave Mauch Chunk 8 a. m.; Walnutport 8:27; Allentown 9:00; Easton 9:31; Philadelphia 9:35. This train stops at intermediate stations. Arrive at Shadow Lawn (West End) 12 noon; returning leave Shadow Lawn at 7 p. m. Uniform fare from all stations $2.00 for round trip.

Leave Harrisburg on Reading R. R.

A special train will leave Harrisburg at 7:00 a. m., fare $5.00; Lebanon 7:37, fare $4.50; Reading 8:20, fare $4.00; Pottstown 8:44, fare $4.00; Phoenixville 9:04, fare $3.50; Bridgeport 9:19, fare $3.00; West Conshohocken 9:25, fare $3.00.—stops at intermediate stations. Arrive at Shadow Lawn 1 p. m., leaves 4:30 p. m.

For further information regarding this excursion confer with local Democratic Party organizations, or consult local passenger agents.

It is important that all clubs and delegations, going to Shadow Lawn, report the number at once, in order that ample train service can be secured, as follows: Over the Pa. R. R. "Democratic State Committee, 135 South Broad St., Philadelphia"; over the Reading R. R., to "Democratic State Committee, 3 Market Square, Harrisburg"; over Central R. R. of N. J., to "George Kuhl, Allentown, Pa."

Lutheran Allegheny Synod

The seventy-sixth annual convention of the Allegheny Synod was held October 2-5 at Scalp Level, Somerset County, Pa., with Pres. Robert Claar and R. H. Bergstresses presiding, the latter preaching the opening sermon, Tuesday evening.

The Rev. J. M. Rearick, Williamsburg, as chaplain, conducted the morning devotional service, with inspiration and edification to all. The representatives of the various Boards and Educational institutions gave interesting and encouraging addresses, showing a marked increase in funds given and students enrolled.

Susquehanna University and Gettysburg College were ably represented. Gettysburg reports over one hundred Freshmen in College, S. U. has no more room for students in her buildings and must house them in private families. Rev. Mr. Batsford is the traveling Secretary of this institution and will be in Bedford in December.

One of the most important objects in this Synod is Local Home Missions under the direction of an Advisory Board, with Rev. H. E. Wicand, as President of the Board and Rev. Dr. Young, Superintendent. This Board closed its year with a neat balance in the treasury. But one vacancy is found in Bedford County, whereas, vacancies and pastorates, with ministers were about equal in numbers previously. This Board was reorganized, with Rev. Wicand re-elected as a member and as President of the Board and Dr. Young as Superintendent. Rev. Mr. English, Stoyestown, preached a brilliant and profound Ordination sermon Thursday evening when four young men were licensed to preach for one year.

Rev. F. R. Wagner, Huntingdon, was elected President; Rev. Mr. Alenbaugh, Clearfield, was elected Secretary. Mr. David Prosser, delegate from Bedford congregation was elected as a lay delegate to General Synod meeting in Chicago next June. This is a high honor; the pastor of Trinity was elected first Alternate.

The next meeting of this Synod, will be held in Moxham Lutheran Church, Johnstown. It is intended to hold a joint meeting with the Pittsburgh Synod in Johnstown at that time, commemorating the 400th Anniversary of the birth of the great reformer, Martin Luther. This will probably be effected, as overtures are now being made and committees appointed looking toward such a joint meeting of these two Synods. Trinity Lutheran of Bedford was among the banner churches, having raised her apportionment for general church work in full. The Synod raised for all

"By right of conquest," he declared, the maid belonged to him; but as along life's path they fared—his eyesight growing dim, her temper waxed sharp and shrewd, her tongue became unpropitious; and he wished, as his past he viewed, that he hadn't been victorious.

Want to Locate at Everett

A corporation, which manufactures an article of extraordinary merit and would employ about 50 people, wants to locate in Everett. The company will require about 2 acres of land along the railroad and a building 50x120, two stories and basement, which the citizens of the town are asked to donate. The citizens are also asked to buy $25,000 worth of 6 per cent. preferred stock. A representative of the company expected to be in Everett Monday to look over the situation.
